

Corso di dottorato in Diritto e innovazione

A.A. 2021/2022

European and Comparative Innovation Law

PROF. GUIDO NOTO LA DIEGA

Stirling University School of Law
Visiting Professor UniMc

3 May 2022

h. 11.00-13.00 and h.15.00-17.00 | Classroom C

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

1. Owning Artificial Creativity.
2. AI-generated, AI-assisted, and AI inventions.
3. Big Data Sustainability.
4. Against the dehumanisation of decision-making. Algorithmic decisions at the crossroads of intellectual property, data protection, and freedom of information.

4 May 2022

h.10.00-13.00 | Classroom C

DATA GOVERNANCE

1. Privacy and data protection in the laws of the United Kingdom.
2. EdTech and remote teaching: the 'zoomification' of higher education?
3. The Internet of Loos, the General Data Protection Regulation, and Digital Dispossession under Surveillance Capitalism.

4 May 2022

h.15.00-17.00 | Classroom C

INTERNET OF THINGS

1. The Internet of Spying Sex Toys, Killer Petrol Stations, and Manipulative Toasters. A View of Private Ordering from the Contractual Quagmire.
2. The Internet of Contracts. The Tension between Consumer Contract Laws and IoT Imbalance.

5 May 2022

h.11.00-13.00 | Classroom C

INTERNET OF THINGS

3. The Internet of Vulnerabilities. Tackling Human and Product Vulnerabilities through Non-Contractual Consumer Laws.
4. The Internet of Things (You Don't Own) under Bourgeois Law. An Integrated Tactic to Rebalance Intellectual Property.

10 May 2022

h.11.00-13.00 and h.15.00-17.00 | Classroom C

SOCIO-LEGAL PERSPECTIVES

1. When the Law Fails Us: the Commons for a Collectivised and Open IoT.
2. Ceci est une pipe: Non-Fungible Tokens and ownership on the blockchain.
3. Can the law fix the problems of fashion? An empirical study on social norms on innovation and power imbalance in the fashion industry.
4. Lethal autonomous weapons: do "good" killer robots exist?

The seminar will be available in streaming via TEAMS at the following link:

access

INFO

Prof. Ermanno Calzolaio
ermanno.calzolaio@unimc.it

La partecipazione all'intera attività, previa prenotazione con le stesse modalità previste per gli esami, dà luogo al riconoscimento di 3 CFU agli studenti iscritti al Corso di laurea in Giurisprudenza